Farmers Vote on Soil Conservation District Saturday

Randall County farm and ranch owners are urged to participate in the important election Saturday which will settle the question of establishing a Soil Conservation District.

Any county resident owning farm or ranch in Randall county and having attained the age of 21 years of age is an eligible voter. Wives are also eligible voters. The proposed district includes all of Randall county and a small portion of southwest Potter county.

There will be four voting boxes in operation. These boxes will be at Ralph Switch, Hollywood, Umbarger and Bushland. Voters should vote in the box most convenient to them.

Two-thirds of those taking part in the voting must approve before a district can be organized. All Randall county voters that are eligible should voice their opinion by voting Saturday between the hours of 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.

Farm Bureau Bought Location

The Randall County Farm Bureau has bought the Sam Hill building on Fifth Avenue and started work to repair and remodel the building according to the needs of the organization.

With the building will go five lots, just east of the funeral home.

The Farm Bureau has been located in the rear of the old First National Bank building, which is owned by T. S. Stevenson. As soon as the work of repairing the building has been completed, the organization plans to move its location.

Educational Group To Hold All-Day Meeting in Amarillo

Educational leaders will meet in Amarillo September 29 in an all-day session sponsored by District 9 of the Texas State Teachers Association.

The general assembly and discussion groups will be held in Polk Street Methodist Church, opening at 9:30 a. m., with Dr. Emmitt Smith, Canyon, in charge. Presidents and other officers of local educational units are invited to attend.

At a meeting of the district executive committee held recently in Amarillo, Dr. Smith, president, made appointments of various educators to serve as chairmen of discussion groups.

Serving as leader for local unit presidents will be J. H. Flathers, Amarillo. Mrs. Dorothy Haynie, Amarillo, will preside over the group concerned with planning local programs. Lawrence Brotherton, Canyon, will head the legislative committee. Co-chairmen of the discussion group on membership are Dr. Ruth Lowe, Canyon, and M. W. Graves, Stinnett. Dr. R. E. Darnell, Borger, assisted by Mrs. W. B. Burkhalter, Amarillo, will lead a group in the discussion of public relations.

Following a luncheon in Fellowship Hall, four educators will lead discussion groups. Included are Supt. Charles M. Rogers, Amarillo, who will discuss teacher retirement; Miss Nova Mayo, Pampa, teacher certification; Elmer Wooten, Dumas, accreditation; and Dr. Smith, work of district convention chairmen.

Representatives from both the state and the national educational offices will assist with the meeting, slated to assist leaders in the work of their local associations.

Greer Sells His Railroad in Park

Harold E. Greer has sold his miniature railroad in the Palo Duro State Park to J. H. Buchanan who assumed the management Friday. The railroad was moved to the Palo Duro from Illinois where Mr. Greer operated it for several months.

Mr. Buchanan has been owner of the Ford business in Canyon for some time, retiring as district manager for M. E. Moses Co. David Horn and his wife are the new owners of the Ford Agency. They have been in Hereford for the past year. Application for transfer of the agency was approved in Detroit Thursday by the Ford Company.

Mr. Greer says that he will go with an employment agency in St. Louis and will open a new office in Los Angeles in the near future. His father, D. C. Greer, who has also lived here, will accompany Harold to Los Angeles. The Greers owned a string of newspapers in Illinois before they got into the railroad business.

Mr. Buchanan states that he plans to soon start building a new home in Canyon and plans to make this his permanent home.

Transfer of the motor stock is being made as rapidly as possible, and will be completed in a few days.

County Wins When Fines Are Imposed

"What becomes of the money collected by Randall county courts," asked a citizen the other morning.

Good question, and the answer is quickly answered by county officials.

All highway fines which are imposed by County Judge Roy Joe Stevens for Drunken Driving cases are paid into the county treasury. These cases are referred to as DWI, driving while intoxicated.

When you see some stranger working around the court house, assisting with the clean-up job, he may be termed a prisoner with a sentence hanging over him, and no money to pay his fine. He is working out his term in jail. J. M. Breitling, court house custodian, usually has one or more men so engaged, assisting with the work of keeping the court house spick and span.

Most of the cases are filed in the court of Justice of the Peace Carl Anderson. All of the money collected on these fines goes into the county treasury, with two exceptions: Truck overloading and game infractions. In these two cases, the State gets 85% of the fine, while the county collects 15%.

Because Canyon is at the junction of Highways 60 and 87, with the two highways running into Amarillo, the number of cases in court is more numerous than in most counties of this area.

As the case now stands, Randall county pays the salaries of the county judge, the justice of the peace and the sheriff out of the fines collected in these two courts in Canyon.

Mrs. W. J. Fleisher is justice of the peace in Precinct No. 4, but so much of the territory in this precinct is within the city limits of Amarillo, which collects fines imposed in this area, that the fines collected by Mr. Anderson exceed those collected by Mrs. Fleisher.

Anderson states that he is acting Justice for both Precincts Two and Three, but is elected in Precinct One. In addition to the duties in the case of fines, the Small Claims Court has had 40 cases, with at least 30 of them having been settled.

Ted Lowe Is Student At A&M College

COLLEGE STATION: Ted Lowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Lowe, of Canyon, has enrolled at Texas A. and M. College, one of 100 entering freshmen who are winners of opportunity award scholarships. The scholarships are awarded each May following competitive examinations given to Texas high school seniors.

More than 200 upperclassmen, all previous winners of opportunity awards, are currently enrolled at Texas A. and M. College.

The scholarship program was begun at Texas A. and M. College in 1946, with 16 boys. At that time a goal of 100 scholarships a year for entering freshmen was set. The goal was reached this year.

Funds come from private individuals, from former students and their associations, from corporations and other organizations interested in helping outstanding Texas boys get a chance to earn a college education.

City Election On Park Bonds To Be Called

The City of Canyon will call an election soon for a bond issue of $60,000 for the purpose of building a city park west of the new elementary school building.

Interested citizens met Monday night with the city commission, and discussed the project. The city is able to finance the project with the bond issue, stated Mayor Hosea Foster. A petition had been drawn to present, but it was found to be inadequate for the project.

Another petition is being drawn and will be circulated today. It is likely that the bond election will be called during the coming week as the city has only 15 days upon which to act after the petition is filed.

Charles Donnell, president of the Chamber of Commerce, has been devoting much time to the study of the park project. "According to our information, a swimming pool at Dalhart has solved the child delinquent problem. If Canyon can do as well, it will be money well invested," stated Donnell this morning.

A picture of the project was published in The Canyon News a few weeks ago as drawn by Mark Miles, city parks superintendent of Amarillo.

The swimming pool is the most expensive part of the project, but pools have been making money in most of the towns where they have been built. It is hoped that the Canyon pool will do equally as well as the pools build in smaller towns.

Rails, for instance, built a swimming pool which opened this year. So far the pool has been profitable, and has given great service to the community.

The city now owns the land where the park will be built. It is proposed that a swimming pool, landscaping, three tennis courts, and an activities house will be built with the bond issue of $60,000.

Colored TV Shown At Tri-State Fair

The first color television to be shown in the Texas Panhandle is on display at the West Texas State College booth at the Tri-State Fair this week in Amarillo. The "color TV," however, is not quite what it appears to be.

Dr. Jack Walker, associate professor of speech, and Curtis Babcock, coordinator of public services, hit upon the "closed circuit" idea of color TV, and their display is attracting large crowds at the fair.

A television cabinet is arranged in the front of the booth, and the color, sound movie, "A Present to Your Future," produced by WT, is projected through it, giving the appearance of color TV. It is all done with a ground glass "picture tube," with the movie projected onto it, reflected from a mirror. The deception is so effective that visitors to the booth are sure that color TV has come to the Tri-State Fair.

Attendance at College Above That Last Year

A better than 20 percent increase in enrollment at West Texas State College over last fall's registration, was announced by President James P. Cornette Thursday. He estimates that enrollment on the Canyon campus of full time students will reach 1,300 by the end of the regular registration period, as compared with the 1,087 final count last year.

Registration at Amarillo Center, which will be in progress for more than another week, will be about the same as last year, when more than 1,200 part time students enrolled for night classes. The final combined enrollment of the Canyon campus and the center will be between 2,500 and 2,600, Dr. Cornette said.

"Most of the increase at Canyon is explained by an increase of more than 30 per cent in the freshman class, over last year," Dr. Cornette said. "The freshman class of 1953 had already shown a 20 per cent increase over that of 1952."

Dormitory space on the WT campus is strained to capacity this fall, with some army-type barracks-dormitories being put into temporary use until two dormitory additions now under construction, are completed.

Dr. Cornette Tells Rotary Club of Student Problems

"This is a community," stated Dr. James P. Cornette Tuesday at the Rotary Club luncheon. "In this community the people of the community and the college work together," continued the speaker. "I have never before seen such close cooperation of every individual in building a community," he stated.

As president of the college, Dr. Cornette expressed his very deep appreciation of the fine spirit which prevailed and the co-operation which he had received from all people of the community.

Twenty new members of the faculty were introduced to the group. Only two new members of the faculty were absent.

There are usually two questions asked of the president at the opening of the fall term: What is your enrollment? and What about your football team?

He answered the second question first by referring the questioner to the football coach.

The first question is more complicated than the average layman realizes. The Amarillo Center is only the evening program of the college. Students may attend either campus classes or go to the Center. There is yet a week for enrollment. Nearly every college has an evening program. West Texas State was forced to go to Amarillo for its evening program to be near the center of population. Tech has an evening program on the campus, being located near the center of population of that area. More and more students are taking advantage of the evening program of W. T. at the Center.

The economy of this area has greatly changed since West Texas State first opened in 1910. It was the economy of cattle then; yet there are more cattle in the county than 45 years ago; plus the economy of water, and gas and oil.

The economy of the college changes to meet changing conditions. ROTC and Business Administration are among the newest departments added.

According to the latest figures, the enrollment will increase 20% over last year. Last year he predicted that the enrollment would increase 50% by 1960, but here we have an increase of 20% in one year. This is brought about by more people taking more work than was the case in 1946, right after close of World War II.

In closing, Dr. Cornette stated that Canyon as a community cannot afford to become frozen or crystallize as many towns in this area are becoming.

Fifteen visitors in addition to the 29 new faculty members were guests of the club.

The meeting on Oct. 5 will be a Ladies Night, with Miss Flozelle Jones of Sweetwater speaking.

Hinders Has Permit Of Palo Duro Herd

Brattleboro, Vt.: Louis G. Hinders of Canyon has been given the privilege of the exclusive use of the name "Palo Duro" as a herd name in registering his purebred Holstein-Friesian cattle. This prefix name is granted and will be recorded by The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Over 1400 prefixes were reserved for breeders in 1953.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

Democrat Was Elected Governor Of the State of GOP Maine!

A Democrat has been elected Governor of Maine! That is news indeed, when a rock-ribbed state like Maine throws precedents to the winds and votes to support a Democrat for Governor.

All of this happened while the Democrats of Texas were in session, and a small faction were turning their wrath upon Governor Shivers because he dared to kick precedent in the pants and support General Eisenhower in 1952. Shivers was a Republican in the eyes of a minority group of voters.

Yes, Shivers is a Republican, just like the majority of the voters of Maine may be dubbed Democrats simply because they chose to ignore party lines and vote for the Democrat who was superior to the chosen GOP candidate for Governor.

Texas voters will have to wake up. Those who think that any person who claims to be a Democrat and ignores the principles of the Democratic party of selecting the best person, can no longer wear the Democratic label.

Woodrow Wilson was elected, not by the Democrats, but by the Republicans who supported him. Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected by Republicans rather than by the Democrats. The same was true of Harry S. Truman.

And when the Democrats became too snooty after 20 years in power, along came General Eisenhower, who was elected simply because he stood for the things which Democrats like in their candidate. The Democrats refused to be herded into the Democratic party by the professional politicians.

Texas voters have led the party break; the voters of Maine followed suit. One of these party labels will be forgotten and men with backbone and stamina will be elected to public office in spite of the little professional politicians who think they are supreme rulers.

The State Observer Folds Up After Decisive Defeat of Pets

Paul B. Holcomb, publisher of The State Observer at Austin announced last week that his paper was folding up and quitting business because of the lack of support. As a matter of record, the only advertising which the Observer received was a few legals which no other newspaper wanted.

Holcomb was one man in Texas who "fit, bled and died" for the cause of Ralph Yarborough. He pleaded for support of a so-called real Democratic newspaper in Texas. Holcomb wanted to be the mouthpiece of the great Democratic party and when he cracked the whip he wanted the people of Texas to jump through the loop.

When he failed as the leader of the Democratic party and the people voted as they saw best, regardless of the Holcomb ideas, he folded his tent and will go with the great Ralph Yarborough into political oblivion.

The Observer never caught on. Its publisher struggled throughout its long career trying to interest the people of Texas in its mission. Not even Yarborough was willing to spend a penny with the paper during his campaign, although Governor Shivers carried several ads in the paper.

When the idols of Holcomb, Adlai Stevenson, and Ralph Yarborough failed to make the grade in his third attempt at a state office, the publisher decided that his weekly messages of love were not needed, and would never be heeded by the people of Texas.

According to the last report, The Observer had a mailing list of about 1500 as compared to nearly two million Democrats in Texas.

Plainview Schools Take Step Forward in Matter of Gifts

The school board of Plainview has passed a most sensible regulation.

The board has prohibited the soliciting of funds by school children for the purchase of gifts or presents for any school personnel.

This regulation was necessary since every school child in Plainview was called upon for money to buy every teacher some kind of a present either at Christmas time or at the end of the school term.

The board took the position that Gilmer-Aikin law had raised salaries so that each teacher will have ample funds of his own to spend. However, the chief objection against the old method is due to the fact that too many families are of border income and do not have sufficient means to meet all of the calls made for various gifts.

Meanwhile, we wonder just how much money raised for gifts was ever spent among Plainview merchants? Chances are that the kids of Plainview are no different from the kids of Canyon—if so, they would think they were getting their gifts "cheaper" by patronizing another town or some mail order concern.

Regardless of the past, the present ruling is good.

Moody Estate Will Go to the Aid of People of Texas

According to the will of the late W. L. Moody, Jr., the people of Texas will profit largely as the result of his death. That is, the bulk of his 400 million estate will go to the Moody Foundation, which was established by Mr. Moody in 1942 to aid needy Texans.

W. L. Moody, Jr., embarked in the cotton business following in the footsteps of his father. He enlarged the holdings of the estate, rather than spend his time in idleness, as most youths do when they inherit a vast fortune.

It is right and proper that Mr. Moody should leave the bulk of his holdings to religious and charitable institutions of Galveston and the balance of Texas. It would be a wise provision for wealthy persons right here in the Panhandle to remember the institutions which helped them build their futures by leaving at least a part of their holdings to the friends who so greatly assisted them in their business ventures during their life time.

W. L. Moody, Jr., set a fine example for a good citizen of Texas.

The church and politics should not be mixed, but unfortunately they too often go hand-in-hand.

Empty heads appreciate empty honors and there are plenty of both in every community.

"What's the Matter With Texas?" Asks Paper Supporting Bureau

"What's the matter with Texas?" asks the monthly publication, Texas Agriculture. The publication is the official mouthpiece of the Farm Bureau in Texas.

The publication goes on to relate: "The Lone Star state ranks first in number of farms (and farmers) and third in total cash receipts from farming. Agriculture is without doubt the most important industry in the state."

"Yet, Texas ranks ONLY 12th in membership in Farm Bureau."

We have been wondering just what is wrong with Texas that so important an economic factor should be so badly overlooked. Perhaps members of the Farm Bureau are just human like the balance of us. When conditions get tough, the balance of us cut expenses. Sometimes we make a mistake and cut out vital items of so-called expenses, which are not expensive.

Perhaps the farmers of Texas have been forced to retreat in their membership of the Farm Bureau during this period when they should be increasing their membership instead of rejecting it as a necessary item of the cost of farming.

We have no answer to the problem, but assure all of our readers that a good general rain would help the present situation and would increase the number of members of the Farm Bureau, just like it would increase general business in Canyon.

After all, nearly every person in Canyon and the Great Plains as a whole relies on the farms of our community for a living; when crops are short, our living is cut short; and the same is probably true of the Farm Bureau.

Let there be a good general rain!

Redistricting of State for Congressional, Judicial Jobs

Unless the legislature takes steps to redistrict the state so far as Congressional and Judicial Districts are concerned, the people should step in and do something about the present situation.

There are many voters throughout Texas who like the idea of sending Martin Dies to Congress as their Congressman-at-large. Just why they have such a preference, we do not know. Martin Dies has never raised his hand to come to the aid of West Texas. He is from Orange and speaks the language of East Texas. Simply because Dies comes from far away East Texas should be enough for the people of this region to object to his presence in Congress as their representative. Dies claims that FDR booted him out of Congress for his activities against the Communist movement. If this is true, Roosevelt is to be commended instead of condemned. Mrs. Roosevelt said that Dies is all haywire; we are inclined to believe that the woman is right.

Texas has not had in years a redistricting of Judicial districts. Regardless of how the lawyers may feel about the question, the people who pay the bill should be consulted and should have some say about how the districts are organized.

We stated that the legislature should act upon these problems. It would be a simple matter to pass a constitutional amendment to compel the legislature to redistrict from the standpoint of Congressional and Judicial districts, or allow a commission to do this as is now the case with the legislature. The lawmakers quickly redistricted the state when forced to do so by a vote of the people. They will do so in these two instances if compelled to do so.

Who Elected Governor Shivers? Who Cares After the Election

It makes little or no difference now, but we have a great controversy in Texas over the election of Governor Shivers!

Who really elected him for a third term? Up here in Amarillo recently Jack Porter claimed the credit for having re-elected the Governor. He said that Shivers would have been defeated had not he gotten down on his knees and begged the Republicans to support him. We have an idea that those Republicans who did vote in the Democratic primary cast their ballots for Governor Shivers. The antics of Ralph Yarborough would have caused any respectable Republican to change his idea if even thought of supporting Yarborough.

However, the declaration of Porter is denounced by Governor Shivers. There were not enough Republicans voting the Democratic ticket in Texas to count for the 92,000 majority piled up by Shivers against Yarborough.

Now comes the State Convention of the GOP in which the Republicans again claim credit for having elected Shivers and the chairman of the party thoroughly and completely disillusioned members of his party for the Shivers denial of Jack Porter.

Naturally this was pretty much horse opera play. We have learned that the voters of Texas vote just about like they feel rather than waiting for their leaders to decide how they shall vote.

Alcohol and Business Do Not Mix According National Report

We are told that cities cannot be built without liquor.

Yet dry Lubbock has been beating wet Amarillo in business and in population. This is just one illustration.

Americans spent in 1952, $9,570,000,000 for alcoholic beverages.

Industry would benefit by 30 million man hours in added labor without liquor.

Employees would benefit by 20 million more income for personal needs.

If you sell foods, sales are 2% less and profits 13.6% less with liquor.

If you sell clothing, sales are 4% less and profits 75% less.

If you sell cars, sales are 5% less and profits are 28% less.

If you sell home equipment, sales are 10% less and profits are 21.9% less.

If you sell gasoline, oil, tires, sales are 5% less and profits are 24% less.

If booze could be eliminated, Americans would have $283 millions more for new homes. They would have $202 millions more for insurance.

Alcohol does not build business!

Th faults of children can usually be traced to their parents, though there are exceptions to this rule.

Ignorance is what has put the "mist" in chemistry.

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN: With the state Democratic convention out of the way, Texans interested in government and politics now turn their attention to the next regular session of the Legislature, coming up in January.

As the lawmakers convene, their principal problem is likely to be raising new taxes, in the amount of $10 million to $15 million per year.

Governor Shivers has advocated spending $5 million more annually for mental and tubercular hospitals.

He also has recommended more spending to continue improvements in the state prison system.

And he favors a state water conservation program.

Money will also be called for to enlarge the highway patrol and to continue paying teacher salaries at the current rate.

Press Conference

In his first press conference since the run-off primary, the governor said that his re-election constituted a re-statement of Texas independence.

To please Texas, the South and Southwest, the national Democratic Party must get back to the middle of the road, Shivers said.

Specifically, he recommended replacement of Stephen Mitchell, national Democratic committee chairman, with a "good, strong, middle of the road man."

It's Not Over

Not ended by the recent gubernatorial election is the long fight between the conservative and the liberal-loyalist Democrats of Texas.

Already preparations are being made for another struggle in 1956, when, as in 1952, the rival candidates in Texas may clash over issues in the presidential campaign.

In Austin as well as in many another city, the conservative forces are setting up a permanent organization to work between elections.

Letters will go out to workers at the precinct level, thanking them for their efforts.

Files will be kept for use as reference when the campaigning begins next time.

Labor organizations are also active in the interest of elections two years hence.

Sent out by the UAW-CIO headquarters to all local union leaders in the state was a letter saying "We must, of necessity, prepare ourselves to be able to present our candidate and the issues to each and every voter next time."

Expressed in the letter was regret that Ralph Yarborough, opposing Shivers for the chief executive's job, was defeated.

Campaign Strategy Planned

For many years, the continuous political work done by the CIO has been recognized.

Union people work at politics the year round, whereas Texas conservatives have been, in the past, inclined to relax from the political wars between elections.

A significant development is the indication that the conservatives now plan to alter their strategy and try to insure another victory next time by keeping right on the job from now right through the 1956 primaries.

One national communist, commenting on the Texas election, remarked that the conservatives of this state have finally realized "that a political party cannot be captured by frontal assault. It must be captured by patient, quiet work at the precinct level."

Expenses Reported

Finally reported by both candidates were their expenses for the campaign.

Governor Shivers revealed a total cost of $285,121, with $242,087 in donations and no debts or loans outstanding.

Agency Reorganized

Re-organization in the Texas Education Agency's high officialdom came about as the result of the resignation of L. P. Sturgeon, associate commissioner of education, who will become public relations director for the Texas State Teachers Association.

Moving up in the agency will be Warren Hitt, who becomes deputy commissioner of education; Bascom Hayes, who will be assistant commissioner for instruction; and M. A. Browning, who becomes assistant commissioner for vocational education.

Dr. J. W. Edgar, commissioner of education, recommended the changes.

Also selected was a new superintendent for the Austin School for the Deaf: John F. Grace, who had been principal of Gallaudet School for the Deaf in St. Louis.

Grace succeeds Roy M. Steele, who moved to Colorado.

State Revenue Increased

In the fiscal year ended August 31, the State government took in $790,556,058, or nearly $55 million more than the total for the previous 12 months.

Biggest items in the state's budget are schools (about $255 million, up $26 million); welfare (about $158 million, up $20 million); and highways (about $162 million, up $5 million).

Accounting for much of the boost in revenue were increases in taxes on oil, natural gas, motor fuel, and franchises. There was an $18 million increase in federal aid for public welfare. Added to endowment funds was $28 million from mineral bonuses and royalties.

Secretary McKay Booted Around

The feature cover story in a recent issue of Time magazine was devoted to Secretary of the Interior McKay. It's an interesting picture of a man whose views and attitude toward life and government are enormously different from those of such predecessors as Harold Ickes. And it's also significant for the light it casts on the policies and problems of this Administration. For, as Time observes, McKay "has caught hell." Not even Secretary of Agriculture Benson has come in for so much personal attack.

McKay was a newcomer to big-time politics. He has described himself as "just a country boy, just a punk governor from a little state." While he was an early Ike-for-President man, he had never met the President prior to the 1952 Abilene gathering. He served in both world wars and was severely wounded in the first. He did have considerable experience in government on the local level—as mayor of Salem, Oregon's capitol, where he built a successful automobile agency from a shoe-string start; as a member of the legislature and, finally, as a very popular governor.

McKay's present job is a formidable one. As Secretary of the Interior, to quote Time, "he is the nation's biggest landlord, greatest giver of light and water, master of forest and range, controller of minerals and oil, boss of 56,000 people and a $519,000,000 budget." Interior controls all economic activity on 750,000,000 acres of U. S. land, an area greater than France, Germany, Italy and Scandinavia combined. Its responsibilities range, geographically speaking, from Alaska and Puerto Rico to the South Pacific island of Yap.

The Secretary's attitude is pretty well expressed in a statement Time attributes to him: "Once we make a crutch of the Government we are on our way to becoming political cripples." Among other things, he wants to encourage private enterprise in electric power development and he wants more private ownership of public lands. In his view, "Conservation means wise use . . . Natural resources are not worth a thing unless you put work into them." His enemies have seized on this to argue that McKay is a tool of big private interests, such as the power utilities.

They have called him Dimout Doug and Giveaway McKay. The fact is that McKay is no enemy of public power, and once headed the Salem Public Ownership League. But, as Time points out, while he believes in local public power, he regards federal power as a very different thing. McKay, in short, stands solidly for local responsibility and authority, and stands equally solidly against federal monopolies.

The concrete reflection of this attitude is found in the Administration's "partnership" plan for power development. This means that the federal government, local government, and private enterprise will all work together to get needed jobs done at the lowest cost, in the quickest period of time, and under conditions which protect the interests of all concerned. That idea seems to be working—according to Time, planned new power projects in the Northwest not involving federal money will cost $1,500,000,000. This makes sense to McKay, and it obviously makes sense to his boss, the President.

Interior policy will be a big issue in the next election—and so McKay, inevitably, will be a big figure in the campaign.

Damage Done to Schools by Fire

AUSTIN: Almost a million dollars worth of Texas school classrooms went up in smoke in 1953.

Norris W. Parker, manager of the Texas Insurance Advisory Association, said that statistics kept by this fire insurance trade association showed that fire destroyed $984,662 worth of school property last year. Records show that 71 Texas schools were damaged by fire in 1953.

To help reduce school fire losses, the Texas Insurance Advisory Association will distribute thousands of posters to schools this month as a part of the nation-wide observance of Fire Prevention Week, October 3-9, Mr. Parker said.

Every Person Is Working for the U. S. Government

Citizens Public Expenditure Survey defines a taxpayer as "one who doesn't have to pass a civil service exam to work for the government."

The average man in the $4500 bracket works one day in every three to earn tax money alone! If he is employed on the usual 40-hour, five-day week basis, he works more hours to pay his taxes than he does to meet both his housing and clothing needs.

That's a bleak picture. But a ray of sunlight is found in the fact that the new federal budget marks a reduction from its predecessors—and that the tax cuts proposed by the Administration and authorized by Congress have provided us with some measure of relief.

Now the hope is that larger cuts in both spending and taxes will be possible in the future. Practically everyone, in and out of government, wants that. But the goal will be impossible of attainment unless it is honestly supported by the public at large. That means we must do much more than just advocate economy as a vague general principle. We must be willing to approve economy moves when they directly affect us—not the other fellow only. Long ago it was said that the people get the kind of government they deserve, and that goes for fiscal affairs as well as everything else.

Love begins when she sinks in his arms, and ends with her arms in his sink.

Are American women the "luckiest women in the world?"

One hot morning recently, we went to a meeting with several of these so-called lucky ladies. We were to help with a club project. Many of them were pretty and vivacious and young; all were energetic and pleasant. Before we left, each had agreed to make one radio appearance, attend two evening rehearsals, make at least three trips downtown "arranging," and then give one full day to the project — all within two weeks.

It was the day the public schools opened, so most of the women had to "run by" the school after our meeting, to enroll Jackie or Sue or Bill. After that, one was off to luncheon and bridge. Then she would "run by" the grocery store to buy food to cook for a church supper that night.

One woman had got an early start — she took her first grader to school before coming to the meeting. Her car was stacked high with tables and chairs for a bridal supper she was giving that night.

Some were dashing off with their husbands for a football week-end downstate. Some were having birthday parties for children, mamas, nieces. They were going to P-T-A, the beauty shop, the church. All in all, they were knocking themselves out with enough activities in a week to have satisfied their stay-at-home grandmothers for a year. As we watched and listened, we thought of our own cluttered days.

Yes, the American woman has been freed from the "drudgery" of the kitchen, the sewing machine and the laundry tub all right; but if she doesn't take care, she'll have ulcers and nervous breakdowns from the very "freedom" that is supposed to be making her lucky!

Mrs. Davis Will

Speak Thursday at

West Texas State

Mrs. Billie Davis, whose Saturday Evening Post article, "I Was A Hobo Kid," attracted national attention two years ago for its praise of the public school system, will speak at West Texas College's assembly Thursday at 10 a. m. The public is invited to the program in the Administration Building auditorium.

Mrs. Davis concludes a week's speaking tour at WT after appearances in nine other South Plains and Panhandle towns. She spoke Tuesday in Amarillo and Wednesday in Borger.

The speaker tells what she owes to the American system of public schools which brought her out of an environment of transience and near-poverty. With her family she had moved across the country and back, while her father worked at odd jobs, living in the poorest of conditions. Her message has been that the public schools in the cities and towns her family briefly lived in always assisted her in seeing the values of citizenship.

When Mrs. Davis spoke before the American Association of School Administrators convention last year she received a standing ovation — the only such acclaim ever to be given a speaker by that organization.

Walter Reuther, CIO president: "In the light of our resources and our needs, our nation's unemployment is both un-American, uneconomic and unnecessary."

Paul L. Selby, official, National Consumer Finance Association: "Most of us spend our money for such desirable things as speed, convenience, and 'what we like!'"

Middleman Is Working For Small Profit

"We hear so much about the 'evil' middleman," says the Lennox, South Dakota, Independent. "But it should be pointed out that practically every businessman—or retailer—is a middleman. The wide differential existing between farm or factory prices and retail prices is due, not to large middlemen profits, but instead, to the many services demanded of middlemen by the prosperous consuming public."

There are a thousand and one articles that people regard as virtual necessities today which were considered luxuries a few years ago or, in many cases, didn't even exist. Factories must produce them and stores must stock them. On top of that, past generations bought food and other goods pretty much in a raw state. Now most people want these goods in a processed or tailored or attractively packaged form.

The Independent is indeed right when it says that profit margins are small and that is true all along

A Magnifying Mirror Is a Real Beauty Aid for You

As final check on the smoothness of her make-up, actress Virginia Mayo makes use of a magnifying mirror. It's also a reliable measure of her skin care.

BY EDNA MILES

THE advantages of a magnifying mirror as a real aid to beauty are many. Though first glance into one is always somewhat upsetting, a second glance can be both educational and rewarding, beauty-wise.

This second glance may reveal to you flaws you didn't know you had, but flaws that others have noticed. Many women fall into the poor beauty habit of taking themselves and the way they look for granted. But that's not the way observers see you; the flaws are clearly visible to them.

A magnifying mirror is, therefore, of first importance to you in learning the truth about your skin. If there are tiny blackheads, imperfections or blemishes that you thought were well concealed by make-up, the mirror will show them to you. And to good purpose. Once you're aware of them, you can correct them.

It will also provide an indisputable check on your browline, revealing to you stragglers you'd not noticed. It will tell you a complete story about the dry and oily areas of your skin, giving you a chance to treat each separately.

And finally, it's the last word on the smoothness of your make-up, telling you if you've worked well and with an expert hand.

SHERIFF'S SALE STATE OF TEXAS, COUNTY OF RANDALL.

By virtue of an order of sale and execution issued out of the District Court of Randall County, Texas, for the 47th Judicial District, on the 9th day of September, A. D. 1954, by the Clerk thereof, in the case of W. A. Mays vs. H. N. Chowning, Jr., United States of America and Cleo G. Clayton, Jr., No. 2623, and to me as Sheriff directed and delivered, I will proceed to sell, within the hours prescribed by law for Sheriff's Sales, on the first Tuesday in November, 1954, it being the 2nd day of said month, before the Court House door in the City of Canyon, Texas, the following described property, to-wit:

I will also sell the following described property, to-wit:

All of Lot 11 in Block 3 of the Mays Heights Unit No. 1, an Addition to the City of Amarillo, Randall County, Texas, a subdivision of a part of the South half (S. 2) of Section 228, Block 2, AB&M Survey, Randall County, Texas, levied on this 9th day of September, A. D. 1954, as the property of H. N. Chowning, Jr., to satisfy a judgment amounting to $29,765.08, with interest from the 18th day of August, A. D. 1954, at 10 percent per annum, and all costs of suit, in favor of W. A. Mays.

the line. Typical department and variety stores earn a net profit, after all the bills are paid, of around three cents on each dollar of sales. Stores dealing in the mass distribution of fast-turnover staple goods, such as the food chains, earn still less.

The public gets better service and better goods all the time from everyone involved—producer, middleman, distributor. And none are making unreasonable profits—competition sees to that.

Fewer Men Are Producing More

Many people think of agriculture solely in terms of congressional debate over subsidies and the "farm problem." However, behind the headlines American agriculture as an industry is becoming one of the mightiest forces on earth. Highlights of this great transition are described in an Economic Newsletter on developments in the agricultural situation written by Dr. Earl L. Butz, formerly of Purdue University and presently Assistant Secretary of Agriculture.

After pointing out that farm prices have been fairly stable during the past year and the outlook is good, Dr. Butz declared, "We live in an era of the most rapid scientific and technological change of all time. American agriculture is now feeding our growing population on science and technology. We have increased our total agricultural output in the last four decades by 75 per cent, on roughly the same acreage we had previously, and with two and one-half million fewer farm workers."

"Agriculture is now big business. It is inevitable that family farms are becoming larger, as the number of workers on farms decreases and as mechanization of our farms continues at a rapid pace. It is estimated that the value of the United States agricultural plant is $157,000,000,000." There are nearly three times as many tractors as prewar, more than twice as many motor trucks on farms, four times as many grain combines, and five times as many corn pickers. This increase is unparalleled in any country and in any previous time space. Farm equipment manufacturers have demonstrated to farmers that modern machinery can increase productivity on the land and reduce costs. For example, again quoting Dr. Butz, "The amount of hired labor necessary to purchase major farm machines in 1953 was less than half that needed to purchase the same machines in 1935-39."

As time goes on we will hear less about surpluses and the farm problem and more about the need for even greater production. We will then be thankful for the conservation and land use practices and mechanization which today dominate the agricultural scene. We should also remember that free men, not five year plans, are doing the job.

Consumption Is Very Essential

More and more economists are agreeing that the key to high employment and good times in this country is consumption—the sound kind of consumption that stems, not from government pump-priming or any other such inflationary activity, but from progressive free enterprise coupled with high employment at good wages.

Our magnificent productive machine would grind to a halt in short order if the goods didn't move in huge volume into the hands of consumers.

This simply means that the job done by our retail industry—chains and independents, big stores and little stores, city stores and village stores—will decide how our economy and the living standards of the people will fare. Luckily we have the finest retail establishment on earth—and an amazing system of mass distribution, pioneered by chain stores, that is the full partner of mass production.

Drilling For Oil Is Costly

Many a property owner has dreamed of striking oil on his land. But what a shock he would get today if he had to drill the well himself.

First, the cost of drilling a 10,000 foot well would range from $250,000 to $1,000,000, depending on widely varying conditions. Equipment needed would be a complete rig, weighing about 200 tons; 10,000 to 12,000 feet of drill pipe; 12,000 feet of casing; 25 to 100 drilling bits; 500 to 1,000 tons of drilling mud additives; 2,000 to 5,000 sacks of cement; 48,000 barrels of water and 3,000 barrels of fuel oil, plus the services of 125 skilled workers, working full or part-time. Then he might wind up with a nonproducer.

According to the record, of 49,325 wells drilled in the U. S. in 1953, 25,748 were oil wells; 3,801 were gas wells; 18,509 were dry holes; and 1,267 were service wells. Total footage drilled amounted to almost 200 million feet, four times the earth's diameter.

Fortunately for land owners they don't have to risk drilling a well—they can lease to oil companies if they so desire and if prospects seem favorable.

Scientific knowledge and courage are prerequisites for any drilling venture. Risk taking based on the hope of profit is the incentive that spurs American oil companies to keep pace with oil demand and add to the nation's reserves for the future.

FREE ENTERPRISE CREATES PROSPERITY

"It is due to the play of free enterprise that the United States has prospered above all other nations," says the Oregon Voter. "This prosperity is felt in the purchasing power of all our population. To stifle it by withholding all of our natural resources for exclusive development by public ownership is to retard our economic progress and development and diminish the prosperity that would ensue."

The factual record backs that up. Keep it in mind next time you hear socialist arguments for government monopoly of water-power, mineral resources, atomic energy for peacetime use, or anything else.

LIKE A SCHOOL WITHOUT A TEACHER!

A small town without a newspaper would be like a school without a teacher or church without a pastor!

That striking opinion comes from Professor John H. Casey of the Department of Journalism of the University of Oklahoma. He went on to say this: "In the aggregate, the country newspaper determines the outcome of more elections, exerts a greater influence for constructive community progress, is read longer by more members of the family, and constitutes, with its millions of circulation and quadrupled millions of readers, a better advertising medium than any other group of newspapers or periodical publications."

"Through service to its community, the country newspaper will not merely survive; it will continue to flourish . . ."

There are four varieties in society: The lovers, the ambitious, the observers and the fools; the fools are the happiest. —Taine.

Here and there over West Texas are a few crumbling ruins, marking the spot where a fort stood in frontier times. Doubtless many exciting and romantic events occurred in and around these outposts but only a few of the stories have survived. One is the story of two brothers.

They had enlisted in the Texas Rangers and were parting with their mother. She said to the older, "Jimmy, take good care of Dick and don't you come back without him." He promised her that he would look after his 17-year old brother and the two rode away.

The recruits were assigned to Fort Belknap. One day, a report came that a large band of Indians was committing depredations, so a force of 15 Rangers went on a scout, the brothers being of this number.

Five redskins were sighted and

You can boost yields 5 bushels per acre— with a McCormick® Model M Grain Drill

Three-year tests at a midwestern agricultural college compared broadcast seeding at the rate of 4 bushels an acre with drilling at the rate of 3 bushels per acre. Results: Average yield of drilled seed was 5.3 bushels per acre more than broadcast seeding!

Here are three reasons why you can get better stands and bigger yields with a McCormick drill: 1. Each of the feeds measures out exactly the same amount of seed; 2. You can regulate the seeding rate within ounces; 3. You can control seeding depth within a fraction of an inch.

We would like to tell you more about the drill and broadcast seeder comparison—and McCormick drills. Stop in when you're in town.

the Rangers gave chase. The leader, seeing that they were being led in between the walls of a canyon, shouted an order to turn back. But the command came too late, for dozens of Indians rose from hiding on both sides and behind the Rangers. The Texans fought furiously to escape from the ambush but only two were able to break through.

One was the older brother. He looked back and saw Dick fighting furiously on foot, for his horse had been killed. Using his clubbed rifle, the youth knocked a brave from his paint pony and frantically attempted to seize the bridle.

All this, James saw in an instant and there flashed into his mind the promise he had given when they left home. Determined to rescue his young brother or die with him, the Ranger spurred his horse into the midst of the conflict, shouted, "Dick, jump on!" and turned the animal. The brother sprang behind him and they lay as flat as possible while arrows and bullets sped at them as they dashed away. The horse was wounded three times but the courageous creature bore the two riders safely to the fort. Neither brother received a scratch.

The 12 men who were entrapped in the ambush were killed and scalped by the savages. The entire force of Rangers set out from the fort in pursuit, overtook the Indians on Flat Top Mountain and avenged the deaths of their comrades by annihilating the redskins. The two brothers played a leading part in the battle.

When mustering out time came, James and Dick returned home safely; the former had made good his promise to their mother to take care of his younger brother.

Latest Rumors From Political Front of Nation

Thomas Dewey, New York's Governor, signaled his conclusion, when he decided not to run for a fourth term, that President Eisenhower will be the Republican candidate again in 1956. Mr. Dewey's decision would have been different if he had thought that he might get the Republican nomination two years from now.

Richard Nixon's friends are not unaware that private polls show the Vice President to be out front among the group of individuals who might head the Republican ticket in 1956 if Eisenhower should decide not to run. Mr. Nixon's retirement makes it probable that the Republicans will look to the West when they turn to a new personality to head their ticket.

Vice President Nixon is not as pessimistic about Republican chances in the November election as he appears to be. Mr. Nixon and other Republican leaders are using the scare technique to get party workers more aroused and active.

Leonard Hall, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, is finding that party workers often are not happy to find another organization—the National Citizens for Eisenhower Congressional Committee—moving into their bailiwicks and appealing for votes on other than a party basis.

William Knowland, California Senator and Republican Leader of the Senate, rubbed President Eisenhower the wrong way when he recommended that diplomatic relations with Russia be broken as a result of the shooting down of another American airplane. Mr. Eisenhower and Senator Knowland quite often do not see eye to eye on foreign policy.

Joseph McCarthy, Wisconsin Senator, is aware that almost nobody in the Senate expects to be called back before November 2 to pass on the issue of censure that has been raised concerning some of Senator McCarthy's actions and statements. After election, a new Congress will take over from the old in January and the controversy then will enter a new realm.

Irving Ives will take no chances on New York's losing a Republican member of the U. S. Senate. Mr. Ives will keep his Senate seat while running for Governor and, if he wins, will appoint a Republican to the Senate.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., apparently cannot be nominated for Governor of New York without a stiff inside party fight. Party leaders are expected to try to persuade him to withdraw in the interest of harmony.

After long delay, pressure is being put on U. S. diplomats abroad to get clearance of foreign governments for publication of secret documents concerning Teheran and Yalta conferences. These documents are expected to see light of day a few weeks before November 2 elections.

President Eisenhower is insisting that this country's armed services and its diplomats agree to a specific course of action that will be followed in dealing with the new war being waged around Formosa. The President wants to avoid the improvised policies of the last days of war in Indo-China.

British objection made it impossible to include Chiang Kai-shek and his armies in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. Military power of nations in SEATO, other than U.S., is not great in the area to be defended.

Clement Attlee, British Labor Party head, in a three-hour argument with Mao Tse-tung, head of Communist China, told Mao that the Labor Party in England had done more to produce change than the Communists of China had done in the same time. Mao replied: "But you never eliminated the bourgeoisie, which is the real test

While Mr. Calvin Coolidge was President, a display of social nicety took place in the White House one morning. The Ambassador from France was breakfasting with the President, and discussing an important matter. He was somewhat taken aback when Mr. Coolidge poured his cup of milk into a saucer. A gentleman to the last, he did the same thing with his milk.

The President smiled slightly, said nothing, stooped down, and gave his saucer to a grey cat waiting at his feet.

A Tribute To Our Neighbors

Those people who live next door or down the street a way or around the corner. Do you know them? Do you put yourself out just a little sometimes to make their lives more pleasant? A cheery "hello," a genial smile, an invitation to come in and sit awhile. These are the tiny miracles that make neighborliness blossom and grow into a thing of strength and beauty. Charity, they say, begins at home. Similarly, it is from your home that nextdooriness emanates. Let's all be good neighbors. Remember there is no tax on your investment in friendship!

Women's Bowling League Underway

Women's bowling league got underway Monday night with four teams bowling.

Cooper's Market downed Canyon Drug all four games while Young's Drive in came in with four wins from Fritz's Gulf Service.

High score for the first night was 179 made by Inky Zachry. Ruth Foster with 175 and Faye Risner with 170 gave Inky good competition.

Any woman interested in bowling is invited to come to the Bowling Alley Monday night by 7:30 o'clock. There is need for enough girls for two more teams.

BOWLING LEAGUE TO MEET

Business Men's League will meet Thursday evening, Sept. 23, at 8 o'clock at Canyon Bowling Alley to organize the 1954 League. All interested in bowling are cordially invited to attend.

Latest Rumors From Political Front of Nation

Sherman Adams, White House staff chief, is on the political defensive after the Republican setback in Maine. White House strategy for 1954 is to strike down the middle on issues, hoping to attract Democratic votes. In Maine, Democrats stayed Democratic and many Republicans stayed home.

Leonard Hall, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, is to be given a freer hand in remaining weeks of the 1954 campaign. Republicans had placed great store on a special organization known as National Citizens for Eisenhower Congressional Committee to supplement the regular party organization and to win normally Democratic votes. Early results are raising questions about the wisdom of having rival organizations.

Ezra Benson, Secretary of Agriculture, called off plans for drastic control of farm crops in 1955 after getting word from the summer White House in Denver. Farm-State Republicans became alarmed at farmer reaction to Government plans to tell them what they could and could not plant on acres taken out of production of crops with price supports.

At the summer White House, word from political scouts is that Republicans are going to have a hard time defeating veteran Democratic Senator Guy Gillette in normally Republican Iowa. In fact, the advice of Mr. Eisenhower is that, as of now, Senator Gillette would be re-elected.

Representative George Bender running for the former Taft seat in Ohio, may be lucky to win by 50,000 votes over Senator Thomas Burke, appointed Democrat, on the basis of information from Republican sources reaching the summer White House. The late Senator Robert Taft won by 431,000 in 1950.

Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons, top White House liaison man with Congress, is beginning to carry more weight in top political councils. General Persons all along has advised Mr. Eisenhower that he should head off a fight between so-called "liberal" and "conservative" Republicans. Advice to avoid a fight involving Senator Joseph McCarthy was not taken.

Mrs. John S. Doud, the President's mother-in-law, is telling close friends that she does not think Ike will run for another term. She explains that Mamie Eisenhower, as First Lady, is under such pressure that she does not feel she should try another four years.

The President hears that party feuds in three States are giving Republican leaders concern. A Nixon-Knowland division in California remains troublesome. In New Jersey, conservatives still are dissatisfied with Clifford P. Case, the party senatorial nominee. In Illinois, the Citizens for Eisenhower group remains rather cool to Joseph T. Meek, the nominee.

Joseph McCarthy, Wisconsin Senator, fully expects that the Senate committee considering charges against him will make a report to the Senate that can be the basis of a vote of censure. It is being taken for granted, however, that the Senate will not come back to Washington to receive the committee report until after election.

Important Cabinet changes will follow if the Republicans do lose in the November elections, barely six weeks away. A defeat would lead to shifts in policies and in top personnel, with an eye to 1956.

President Eisenhower is under pressure in Denver to move headquarters of the Forest Service and the Reclamation Bureau from Washington to that city. A Federal Government pay roll is viewed with favor.

Sir Winston Churchill and the British Conservatives are inclined now to put off a general election in Britain until late 1955 or even until 1956, because of concern over political trends in Britain. Polls and scattered elections suggest that voters are not necessarily happy when prosperous.

President Eisenhower turned thumbs down on a proposal that

By Lawrence Hunnicutt

As the public focus continues to concentrate upon a city park it looks more and more as though we may get one. In thinking about this subject the idea of colored lights came to mind. Several years ago there used to be such a park in Amarillo that drew a great deal of attention. Haven't seen anyone who has witnessed the colored light spectacle there for some time so don't know whether or not they are still using them. It is known for sure that many people used to drive out to the park just to see the lights and the fountain sending up colored water.

It seems that the idea of colored lights and beautiful hues of water coming out of a fountain are possible with a little engineering ingenuity. According to all the information we have been able to gather, it's merely a task of setting colored bulbs at the right position for their light to strike the water. Perhaps there is more to getting colored bulbs at the right position for their light to strike the water. Perhaps there is more to getting a fountain of colored water than this, but if it is possible to get one it would certainly be a wonderful step forward for the town. Of course you understand that first we must get or at least assure the obtaining of the park.

A petition is being prepared, by now it may be signed by a large number of people. According to reports on past petitions it seems that some people have the idea that such a document is a club to force them to do something. This is not entirely true, a petition is merely a document showing what the people want. The majority of the people seem to want a park.

Mrs. Nathan Harvey of Happy was a Canyon visitor last week. She was visiting Mrs. Clark here. Like many other mothers and housewives, these two were planning some entertaining activity. Autumn is bringing on more and more of that sort of thing and it's certainly wonderful to see that summer siesta atmosphere give way to the activities of autumn.

Also saw Les Smith last week. He's one of our friends back in radio days. Les is still with one of the Amarillo radio stations. He gave out with the surprising news that he is now a grandfather. It just doesn't seem right for fellows like that to be a grandparent so young. All this goes to show that no matter how early you get up, you still can't stop the hands of time.

Local Boy Scout officials are getting prepared for the Scout Camporee to be held here soon. The task of all the Scout workers would be so much easier if they had a nice spot for these boys to hold their camporee. That brings us right back to the need for a nice, big city park.

Noticed in the paper last week where the Chinese Reds are returning several more Korea war dead to the Allies. While the Reds claim to be a peaceful people and that they are trying to maintain the peace of the world, they return their deeds of war, grim evidence that they will go to war to have peace, on their terms, that is.

Now that autumn is officially here and the colorful splendor of the Tri-State Fair offers excitement to people all over the Golden Spread, makes this a good time to mention something for the future. We could start thinking now about gardens for next spring and summer. Mrs. Warwick's idea for a Garden Club for Canyon is something that we should start working on now. Think of the pride and prestige that could come from a beautiful booth at next year's fair. A booth made up of things grown in the gardens of Garden Club members.

WASHINGTON: The U. S. Navy aircraft shot down by the Russians in the Sea of Japan this month is one of a series of shooting "incidents" which has been continuing steadily since October of 1945. That was just two months after the Japanese surrendered, ending World War II.

The cold war shooting incident series began with a Navy plane attacked by Russian guns near Dairen. The next year—1946—there were half a dozen incidents. In two of them Yugoslav fighters were the attackers, and in the second Yugoslav attack a U. S. C-17 was shot down and five crew members killed.

The Berlin Blockade, which began in 1948, created a new series of incidents and U. S. and British planes, flying food and fuel to Berlin, were often buzzed or fired at by Red fighters. The U. S. Government gave military pilots orders to shoot back if attacked further and the tension eased off a bit.

On April 8, 1950, Soviet planes shot down a Navy aircraft over the Baltic Sea, killing ten Americans. The plane was unarmed. On November 6, 1951, a Navy Neptune bomber disappeared after Russian jets north of Japan and returned to base undamaged. One Russian plane was damaged. One month later a Thunderjet was downed by Czech fighters over Germany.

In January of this year, a number of MIG-15's attacked a U. S. bomber near Korea, but the bomber had top cover by U. S. Sabre-jets and these fighters drove off the Reds, shooting down one. Two U. S. fighters were fired on near Czechoslovakia in March and in late July American fighters shot down two Chinese fighters attempting to interfere with a rescue-search mission in waters of China.

Thus the history of incidents extends back nine years. There is little reason to expect an end to them now. Nor are they confined

Johnson - Roark Vows Solemnized in Double Ring Service Campus Chapel

MRS. MARVIN LEE ROARK

In a double ring ceremony at Joseph A. Hill Chapel recently, Janet Lucille Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Johnson, became the bride of Marvin Lee Roark, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Roark of Vega. The wedding was solemnized on the 27th wedding anniversary of the bride's parents.

Rev. Herschel L. Thurston of Dalhart read the service before a white satin-covered altar, flanked with arrangements of pink gladioli and white daisies. Candelabra formed an arch in the background of the nuptial area. Family pews were marked with white satin ribbon, nosegays and greenery.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. K. E. Frieze, organist, played "Indian Love Call," "Humoresque," and "Traumeri." She accompanied Miss Donna Erwin of Claude, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because." "To a Wild Rose" was played during the exchange of vows.

Miss Margie Johnson of Amarillo as maid-of-honor wore a ballerina length gown of net in shades of pink, aqua and white with a white stole. Her bandeau and colonial bouquet were of pink rosebuds.

Debbie Krahn of Vega, flower girl, wore a floor-length gown of aqua net styled with a tiered skirt. Her halo was of matching net and she carried a pink satin basket of rose petals.

Stanley Johnson, brother of the bride, and Dennis Krahn, nephew of the groom, carried the rings on white satin pillows. They were attired in white linen jackets with navy linen trousers.

H. M. Roark of Vega was his brother's best man. Dwaine A. Johnson, brother of the bride, and Jim Everett of Vega were ushers.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white tulle and lace over white satin, styled with a fitted bodice, small pointed collar embroidered with silver sequins and long tapered sleeves. The sequin trim was repeated on the scalloped detail of the bodice front. The full skirt was accented with panels of net and lace and extended into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a lace cap embroidered with sequins and seed pearls.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Johnson selected a gray taffeta dress complimented with gray and pink accessories. The mother of the groom, Mrs. Roark, chose to wear a gray silk dress with black accessories. Their corsages were identical of lavender baby orchids.

A reception was held in the Methodist Student Center immediately following the ceremony. The serving table was covered with a lace cloth over aqua and centered with pink gladioli and white daisies, flanked on each end by crystal candelabra holding aqua candles. Mrs. Melvin Robertson of Amarillo served the wedding cake and Mrs. E. L. Larson ladeled the punch. Guests were registered by Miss Carol Jahnsen of Amarillo.

For her wedding trip, the bride traveled in a dress of navy flowered tissue taffeta with navy accessories and a white orchid corsage. The couple is at home at 920 Bryan, Amarillo.

Mrs. Roark was graduated from Canyon High School and Amarillo Secretarial College, and is employed by General Mills, Inc., in Amarillo.

Mr. Roark was graduated from Vega High School and is a junior at West Texas State.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding include the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson of Mondamin, Iowa, Mrs. Eddie Weldon, also of Mondamin, Mrs. J. C. Loyd and Marcia of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and the bride's brother, Merlin E. Johnson, of Omaha, Nebraska.

Texas To Fight Segregation in Public Schools

Austin: Attorney General John Ben Shepperd Wednesday announced that Texas will accept an invitation from the United States Supreme Court to file a brief on segregation in public schools.

"After having given this matter several months of constant and exhaustive study, and having consulted with a wide cross-section of educators, teachers, legislators and State officials, we feel that we should file a brief in order to properly present the Texas position on this question," he said.

Shepperd pointed out that the only states having the issue of segregation before the Supreme Court at this time are Delaware, Kansas, South Carolina and Virginia and the mere filing of his "amicus curiae" (friend of the court) brief would not bind Texas in any decree resulting from these four cases.

"The Texas segregated school system is unique," he said, "and most Texas citizens think Texas should be allowed to work out her own problems. We will urge this view in our brief."

"We don't want what is happening in West Virginia to happen to our school children," he declared.

West Virginia abolished segregation following the May 17 decision of the Supreme Court, and the opening of the fall school term was marked by strikes, demonstrations and other civil disorders.

The Court held May 17 in the Delaware, Kansas, South Carolina and Virginia cases that segregation in the public schools of those states was unconstitutional.

The court indicated then that it might set up machinery to hear evidence in individual states. Shepperd expressed hope that the Court would work out some such method for Texas, thus allowing this State to bring out all facts concerning her own school system.

"This would allow time to study the experience of the four states now before the Court," he said, "and would also permit a possible legislative solution to the problem."

Attend Regularly

It is a well known fact that the greatest cause of failure in high school is irregular attendance. Unless you are ill or unless an emergency arises, you should be in school. Each day's work is built on what you learned the day before. When a class period is missed it makes the rest of the course much more difficult because of that gap in your knowledge. One is sometimes able to make up the missed work, but the class discussion is gone forever.

Absences due to minor causes such as pleasure trips, shopping trips, appointments with the doctor or dentist should be put off until after school hours. An unexcused absence on the day of a test could easily result in failure of a course, and three points will be deducted from your six weeks' average for each unexcused absence.

If you know you are going to be absent, ask your teachers what you will miss and do your make up work in advance.

Senior Class Teens

Betty Burrus has the ambition to be a technician and her hobby is listening to records and collecting demitasses. "Boop" is her well known nickname. She is an active student in such activities as basketball, volleyball, and various other sports.

School organizations in which she has taken part are FTA, NHS, FHA, and band. Betty is a Red Cross representative of the senior class. After she graduates from high school, Betty plans to enter the field of medicine at West Texas State College and later at Texas University.

Collecting salt and paper shakers is the hobby of Gladys Leseberg, better known to students as "Lezey." Her ambition is to be a housewife. Gladys is active in basketball and volleyball. Her plans for the future are to be a housewife.

Another "Boop" of the senior class, Bettie Glanton, has the ambition to graduate from college and her hobby is sports. Bettie is well known by her abilities shown in basketball, volleyball, and tennis. She is a member of the National Honor Society. Offices held by her during her high school years are secretary of freshman class, treasurer of sophomore class, reporter of senior class, and secretary of FHA. Bettie plans to enter the field of teaching at West Texas State College during which she will be a housewife.

Citizenship Day Observed in CHS

"Freedom is a privilege and must be guarded," was the concluding statement of Dr. Lowell Harrison, government instructor at West Texas State College, main speaker in the first Citizenship Day assembly in CHS Friday.

J. E. Miller, CHS principal, introduced the program explaining that it was in observance of Citizenship Day. The introduction was followed by the student body singing "God Bless America" led by Ray Green and accompanied by Alice Simms.

Dovie Keene presented the history of the Pledge of Allegiance and the student body stood as Kn Kuykendall, vice-president of the student body, led them in the revised Pledge of Allegiance.

Dr. Lowell Harrison was introduced by Alice Brotherton and following his address a girls choral group under the direction of Miss Ada V. Clark had a musical special, "The American Creed."

The program was consummated with a prayer by Rev. T. W. Wilbanks of the First Presbyterian Church.

This assembly was the first of a series to be sponsored by a civics program committee representing the civics classes of CHS.

To better educate the people concerning the great need of cleaving to the privileges and freedoms of America and of the methods that must be employed to face the world problem are the goals of this committee. Members of the committee are Nancy Adecock, June Davis, Lucy Hollabaugh, Dovie Keene, and Jack McCormick.

The next program will be given to the Rotary Club sometime in October.

Washer Pitching First Intramural

Washer pitching with both boys and girls competing began the intramural activities Monday, Sept. 20.

Washers, the first of a group of games, including washers, checkers, and horseshoes for the fall season, is being played in doubles only. Referees appointed by the intramural committee are in charge of the matches.

All names of entrants in the washer competition had to be submitted to the class presidents on Thursday, Sept. 16. Each of the doubles entered gives his class one point and all failing to appear means a loss of two points.

This point system will be used throughout the year and at the closing of the intramural activities the class points will be totaled and a trophy presented to the class coming out on top.

FHA Achievement Plaque in Hall

An achievement plaque to distinguish an outstanding FHA girl each year has been hung in the CHS hall by the Canyon FHA chapter. The plaque hangs permanently just outside the principal's office.

Each girl in FHA will be eligible to compete for this honor. In order to determine the outstanding member, her records will be scored and evaluated on the basis of citizenship, initiative, cooperation, scholarship, leadership, and activities in which she participates. The name of the winning girl each year will be engraved on the plaque.

Girls Try Out For Basketball

Fourteen girls are participating in the freshman girls' basketball try-outs, which started Monday, Sept. 13, in the Canyon Grade School gym and will continue for two weeks. At the end of that time all of the promising basketball players will be invited to join the high school basketball squad and will work out with the main teams.

The girls, under the direction of Lawrence Brotherton, are working principally on fundamentals of shooting, pivoting, passing, and guarding.

Mr. Brotherton commented that the entire group of girls really want to be good basketball players and that prospects of the CHS girls' basketball team, when the freshmen become upperclassmen, are very bright.

Freshman girls participating in the try-outs are Barbara Brown, Letha Sheets, Patricia Burgess, Oleta Griffin, Juanita Griffin, Joy Rose, Wynona Yarbrough, Carolyn Glanton, Gwen Kelso, Patricia Hardaway, Traverne Gildham, Winnie Davis, Sheila Caldwell, and Vicki Wiggins.

Norman Tucek was elected area FFA president and chosen as a Lone Star Farmer at the area meeting at Tulsa in 1952. Norman was awarded a $50 cash prize.

Wanette Green, Juanelda Cunningham, Ann Moore, and Rhea June Ford were the vigorous cheerleaders last year who edged the Eagles on to victory.

Richard Pruett and Tommie Middleton were chosen as members of the 2-AA All-District football team selected by coaches of this district.

Walker Poster Takes Fourth

Virginia Walker, sophomore, is a winner in the 1954 Fire Prevention Poster Contest. Virginia won fourth place with her novel idea which she presented force-

Burgess, Burrow, and Airhart led Canyon in scoring in a 33-12 tussle with Panhandle last Friday night, Sept. 17, at Panhandle.

Leroy Burrows, Canyon halfback, carried the pigskin over the goal line three times, once on an 80 yard gallop to score a total of 18 points.

Jamie Airhart, 170-pound halfback, scored the second touchdown and kicked three extra points in the first two quarters of play-making, a total of nine points for Airhart.

Fullback R. A. Burgess, taking the ball on the Panther nine yard line, scored the fifth and final TD for Canyon in the second quarter of the game.

Canyon's offense gained approximately 14 first downs compared to 11 gained by Panhandle.

The first quarter of play saw fully with unusual colors.

She received $450 plus a merit award, both in recognition of her fine work.

Her poster portrayed a Simple Simon playing with fire. Bold letters on the poster warned, "Only Fools Take Chances."

Virginia was followed by Don Ray, receiving an honorable mention for his poster. Don's poster is a picture of two bears in the edge of a forest. Its message reads, "Protect Our Friends, Prevent Fires."

These posters were chosen from 915 entries from 140 Texas towns. Only one poster from each grade in any school system may be submitted in the competition at Austin. The Texas Fire Prevention Poster Contest is annually sponsored by the Fire Insurance division of the Texas Board of Insurance Commissioners.

A full color reproduction sheet showing the contest winners is posted just outside Mr. Miller's office. We are proud that Canyon High School has a winning poster in that colorful group of bests.

"The staggering burden imposed by fire each year—in 1953, close to one billion dollars—can be reduced. By teaching our young people the value of fire prevention and by stimulating their interest in fire prevention through contests such as this, a great measure of success will be achieved in lessening the annual toll of death and destruction which is levied by fire," says Charles L. Tebo, advertising manager of the Cravens, Dargan & Company Insurance Managers in Houston.

Canyon's offense gain four first downs while defense held Panhandle to two first and ten's. It was this quarter that Canyon gained a 20-0 lead over the Panthers.

In the following quarter, Canyon scored 13 more points leaving the Panhandle squad at a dead standstill with no first downs and no runs scored for its second quarter.

The third quarter saw the Panthers move up with five first downs against three for Canyon and no scores seconded for either side.

Later, in the fourth quarter the Panthers scored twice with Panhandle fullback Everett Howard and quarterback John Trent scoring the final runs of the game to make the score read Canyon 33, Panhandle 12.

Two Departments To Have New Home

Homemaking and science students will complete the year's work in their respective departments in the new addition to Canyon High School.

Science laboratory will have six science desks equipped with sinks and adequate instruments for conducting experiments. The desks will have chemically compounded tops which are immune to acid effects. Each unit will seat four students. A desk for the teacher will be similar with sufficient space for demonstrations and experiments.

The room will serve as a lecture and lab room. The department will be equipped with all necessary microscopes, test tubes, containers, and chemicals to make it modern.

Old chemistry and physics equipment will be used for general science.

There will be a preparation room for the teacher's benefit. The room will be used for preparation of experiments and demonstrations. A fume hood will be installed to keep the lab free of chemical fumes.

Homemaking department will have three divisions: kitchen, living room, and sewing lab. The kitchen will be a 5-unit kitchen with metal cabinets and storage space. It will have new dishwashers, food disposal units, washers, dryers, and ironers.

The living room will be used by the girls in the study of furniture arrangements and it will double as a dining room. Meals will be served in the dining room, and programs and entertainments will be held there also.

The sewing lab will be adjacent to the living room. It will contain tables, and machines adequate for the group. The sewing room will have sufficient storage space.

A display case will be in the hall for the purpose of displaying the achievements of this department.

Barbara Winters and Edwina Caskey headed The Eagle's Tale as editor and associate editor for the first semester school term in 1952.

June Wortham reigned as football queen in 1952. Her attendants were Roberta Grigsby, Ann Holt, Grace Sheets, and Laura Smith.

The president of the National Honor Society in 1952 was Leroy Dickerson. Charles Miller was elected vice-president and Dorothy Neblett served as secretary.

LaRue Davis and Martha McBroom made the all tournament team at the Tulsa tournament. The Canyon Eagles took third place in the tournament.

In 1952, 476 students of the Canyon schiols took out school accident insurance.

EARLY WEANING—MORE PIGS

Early weaning, possible with early feeding of pig starters, makes possible earlier rebreeding of sows, thus reducing the sow cost of pig raising. Sows whose pigs are weaned before they are a week old can often be rebred successfully 12 to 16 days after farrowing, and resultant litters serve not to be adversely affected.

AMERICAN NATIONAL BUILDS NEW DENVER HEADQUARTERS

The American National Cattle-men's Association will have a new home early in 1955—headquarters for the thousands of stockmen in all states who are contributing towards its construction.

Pouring of foundation concrete in August signified the official start on the new $125,000 headquarters building in Denver.

Officials of the association, comprised of thousands of individual members and more than 140 affiliated state and local cattlemen's organizations, pointed out that the American National has headquartered in Denver during its 57-year history in rented quarters.

They hailed the voluntary building-fund program as an example of cattlemen's continuing faith in their industry even during the current difficult years.

The one-story building is located at 17th Avenue and Clarkson Street in a new business area just east of Denver's main business district.

"In recent years, we have become accustomed to hearing that those who oppose growing government participation in our economic life are seeking to turn back the clock. ## Indians Whip Buffs Saturday

The Buffaloes fell to the McMurry Indians Saturday night before a large crowd of spectators by a score of 19 to 18. Last year the two teams played to a tie of 20-to-20.

The difference in scores this year came when the Indians kicked one of three goals after touchdowns, but the Buffs missed all three of their trial for goals.

In statistics, the Buffs stood ahead of the Indians, but two costly fumbles in the early stages of the game placed the visitors ahead in scores, and the Buffs were never able to recover these touchdowns.

The Buff team is composed largely of sophomores, and Coach Frank Kimbrough is confident that they will improve as the season advances.

The Buffs go to Lubbock Saturday night to play the Tech teams which defeated Texas A. & M. last Saturday night.

The following were statistics of the game:

	McMurry	W.T.
First downs	11	13
Yards gained rushing	248	258
Yards lost rushing	17	12
Passes attempted	14	13
Passes completed	5	4
Yards gained passing	37	28
Passes intercepted by	1	2
Number of punts	2	3
Punt average	39	32
Number of penalties	10	3
Opp fumbles recovered	2	0
Yards penalized	66	45

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS
OF THE 18th CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Back Home

I finally got the work in Washington caught up to where I could get home.

My feet hit Panhandle Terra Firma on the night of September 9th and, needless to say, it was a wonderful feeling. Had appointments all the next day with people who were having trouble getting some of their troubles straightened out. We didn't get them all straight, but did get the machinery started on most of them.

Friday night, I went to the Farm & Home Show at PanTech Farms and had a most enjoyable time. Saw the beauty contest, and can assure you it was not misnamed. Friend "Cotton John" was busy as a bee, as usual, and doing the splendid job that he is noted for in this section of the country. Attended the Airport Dedication at Amarillo on Sunday and heard Ross Rogers make a wonderful speech. He has done a lot for Amarillo and this entire section.

My telephone number at Pampa is 45631. If it doesn't answer, try again, because I have so many places to go, I might not be there, and the young lady might have stepped out for a few moments.

More About Subsidies

There is so much talk around the big cities of the East about the fabulous farm subsidies, that I think the Eastern papers should prominently display a report issued by the House Agriculture Committee in June of this year.

The figures contained in it are too many to quote in this newsletter, but a brief treatment can be had. This report shows that according to all figures, the price support program has cost $1,948 million dollars since it began in 1933.

Nearly half of this was a loss occasioned by the Irish potato loss, which accounted for approximately 478 million. It was pointed out in the report that most of the costs of the price support operations occurred during the post-war readjustment years; that during this same time, business reconversion payments by the government amounted to over $40 billion dollars.

There is really no reason to try to build up a big bugaboo about so-called subsidies or special services or incentive benefits, or whatever you want to call them. The truth is that these payments have actually gone into all segments of our economy, and it hardly behooves one group to criticize the other. The further truth is, much has been accomplished in this manner that would otherwise have been delayed for many years.

When the first Congress convened in 1789, its first act was to devise a system for administering oaths. The next business was the enactment of a tariff bill. This legislation set up a subsidy principle that has been followed in many forms. The Government granted over six million acres of public land to private interests, between 1827 and 1866, to encourage canal building and river improvement, in addition to right-of-way grants. This was just part of the program.

Approximately 183 million acres of Federal and State lands were granted to railroads between 1850 and 1870. We all know of the continued subsidies that are granted shipping and air carriers, as well as other programs.

The recent atomic energy discussions point out the contribution that has been made by the taxpayers who paid for this program. Certainly everyone wants to take part in the forward movement of civilization and to contribute what he can. Our progress would be so much better if some of the attempts to set one segment of our economy against the other should cease.

We can accomplish so much more working together than we can pulling against each other. As I have said many times before, "The American people want the truth about government payments or subsidies. If they are justified, they will be continued; if not, they will be dropped. Since it is the taxpayer's money, it seems only fair that he should have the facts and the decision."

Around the Town...

(By Mrs. Clyde W. Warwick)

Take-home dinners — the type you simply heat and serve — are boosting food store volume but cutting into restaurant business.

G. B. Heath says he is much better. He was inactive so long, having to lay flat on his back it made him sore, but that he is slowly getting back his strength and hopes to be completely recovered in 60 days.

"True happiness lies in improvement and progress."

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Crain who live at 803 Fourth Avenue came to Canyon 33 years ago and purchased the block of land where they built the home they have lived in ever since. Today Mrs. Crain, 83 years old, and Mr. Crain, 86, enjoy life as much as ever though in a quieter way. They still are able to raise a good garden, keep their home and can tell many interesting tales of the past. Mrs. Crain says when they came here there were no paved roads and very few cars and that everywhere they drove they carried a shovel to dig themselves out of the mud or dig someone else out, but that they didn't kill one another on the roads like they do now. They drove slower but safer.

Mrs. Crain's grandmother was born in Nacogdoches, Texas, in 1804, 150 years ago, and is said to be the first white child born in Texas. She saw Texas under four flags. At this early date there were not any good schools in Nacogdoches and Mr. Dill, grandfather of Mrs. Crain who was colonizing in Texas which at that time was ruled by Mexico took his children to Louisiana for schooling. It was here at a ball Miss Dill met Captain Berryman of Virginia who was a graduate of West Point, stationed at Ft. Jessup with the U. S. Army. Later they were married and their son, Newton Monroe Berryman, was the father of Mrs. Crain.

The Crains after their marriage moved to New Mexico, close to the Arizona line, and their first son, Maurice, was born at Silver City.

Maurice is married to a Texas girl, Annie Laurie Williams, of Denison, Ike's birthplace. These two, who live in New York City, form a husband and wife team that is practically unbeatable. They are agents for many of America's foremost writers. Mrs. Crain sells the dramatic or "subsidiary" rights for authors; that is, to radio, television, movies and the stage. Mr. Crain deals with book firms and magazines. They have handled such books as "The Magnificent Obsession," "The Robe," the all time record holder "Gone With the Wind," and "Cheaper by the Dozen." The Crains are also agents for Canyon's distinguished writer Loula Grace Erdman.

The Crain's son, Newton, lives across the street from them. He is married and has two daughters: Charlotte and Dorothy. Mr. and Mrs. Newton Crain always take an active part in all of Canyon's worthwhile projects.

Mr. Crain's father came to Texas in 1842 from Tennessee. Mrs. Crain says they are really Texans. Few, if any, go back farther than these two in Texas history, or have ancestors who took a more prominent part in the colonizing and developing of Texas.

Mrs. Crain early liked to paint and still carries on this hobby. She finds it restful. She had painted before she had the opportunity to study, doing really good pictures in oil. Her favorite subjects are animals and landscapes. All her landscapes have water scenes in them. She has been called the "Grandma Moses" of Canyon. All the pictures in her home have been done by her. Her granddaughter, Charlotte, seems to have her talent, having painted some lovely pictures.

Until a few years ago Mrs. Crain raised beautiful roses and it was her pleasure to share them generously with her friends. She has lost her roses now, finding the care of them too much.

Visiting with these two is a delightful experience, as well as a most interesting lesson in the early history of Texas, told by two who know it from the actual experiences of their ancestors.

Thank you Loula Grace Erdman and Mrs. J. S. Humphreys for calling my attention to these interesting people whom I have had the pleasure of knowing for many years, but did not know their connection with the history of Texas. There is much more that could be told.

When they arrived home Mr. Hughes asked them if they had a nice visit. "Yes," said Martha, "but it sure turned out to be a long visit." They were gone a week.

Nightly thereafter the parent owls left two gophers on top of the cage, but soon the two-gopher diet was not enough for the fast growing owlet. Then the parents began leaving four gophers on the cage each night.

Mrs. W. H. Upchurch, 1111 7th Ave., planted some sunflower seed she had and they grew to be nine feet nine inches tall and had heads which measured 12 inches across and weighed four pounds. For many years an inscribed three-ton boulder on the small island of No Man's Land off Martha's Vineyard, Mass., has been pointed out as proof that the Norwegian explorer Leif Erickson had touched the area during his wandering. Last week at Galilee, R.I., Capt. Martin Dahl, an old sea dog and fisherman, exploded the legend. The inscription was made by a visiting Norwegian, the captain said, but in the year 1913 not 1000. He said the Norwegian cook, now dead, had chiseled the note "just for pastime" while they were on a rabbit hunt. Informed that the stone would now probably be removed, Capt. Dahl was saddened. "What a shame," he said, "Look at all the fun you're spoiling."

Washington White Parents Fight Court Order

By HARRY S. DENT
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON: The District of Columbia's rapid move to integrate the races in the public schools of the nation's capital will face a legal test in the near future.

A band of white parents and children, together with a white organization named the Federation of Citizens Associations, filed a law suit in District Court here just a week before the move toward integration began in the Washington schools. The group asked that an injunction be issued against School Supt. Hobart Corning's integration plan, which began mixing the races this month and is to be completed by next September.

The basis of the objection to Corning's plan was that it is being put into effect before the Supreme Court issues its final desegregation decree telling the District and five Southern States when and how to end segregation. Arguments on the final decree are set for next month, and a decision is not expected before next spring.

Several days after the white group filed its suit, a predominantly Negro group, named the Federation of Civic Associations, offered to fight the injunction request in court.

A spokesman for the Negro group said his association plans to "take such steps as necessary to defend the public's interest" against any "legal measure" designed to delay desegregation of the public schools." He said further his group plans to ask the court for permission to intervene in the case and present arguments against granting the injunction request.

The significance of the legal battle brewing in Washington is that segregation is getting its first major test in court since the Supreme Court ruled it illegal on May 17, 1954. And the test is coming in the nation's capital, where President Eisenhower hopes the integration pattern will serve as a "pilot model" for the rest of the nation to follow.

In the meantime, new students are being required to enter the school nearest their homes under the Corning plan. Several thousand Negroes are being mixed with white students this month under his "gradual" integration plan.

The Negro-white school enrollment is almost 50-50, according to latest figures.

ROOSTERS AND POLITICIANS

Did you ever notice people in public life who make you think of roosters in the act of flapping their wings and crowing? They both make a lot of noise, but don't say much.

The Atlantic City Press quotes an authority as saying that all you have to do to quiet the silence-splintering rooster is build a ceiling 12 to 18 inches high over the roost where the head of the flock rests at night. When the rooster raises his neck at the crack of dawn to shatter some delicate nervous system, he will give his head a smart rap on the board above his roost. This will so surprise him he will forget to crow.

It is too bad the plan outlined by the Press cannot be applied to many political figures—a ceiling on which they would crack their heads when arising to sound off like the rooster.

In an English political meeting one of the candidates patriotically orated: "I was born an Englishman. I have lived an Englishman. I hope I shall die as an Englishman."

From the back of the hall, in an unmistakable accent, came the question, "Mon, hae ye no ambection?"

Blot Christianity out of the page of man's history, and what would his laws have been—what his civilization? —Sir A. Park.

William Howard Taft was the first President of the 48 states.

America Forced To Look at Our Foreign Policy

Some months ago, it will be recalled, Secretary Dulles said that this country might be forced to make an "agonizing reappraisal" of its foreign policy, but that he hoped this would not happen. Now it has happened, and it is obvious that the "agonizing reappraisal" is underway.

The crowning blow, of course, was France's refusal to join the European Defense Community. That, to all intents and purposes, means the end of EDC—and for more than three years EDC has been a cornerstone of American anti-Communist strategy. One irony here is that EDC was a French concept in the first place, and that it was vigorously supported by former French Premiers and other top officials. But nationalism seems to be running strong in France these days. The idea of French soldiers serving along side of German soldiers in a supranational army is, obviously, extremely distasteful to the majority of the French people. And fear of a resurgent Germany—a fear forged in two wars in which France sustained human and material destruction on a ghastly scale—dominates French thinking. There is another irony in this—for, EDC, or no EDC, it is perfectly plain that German rearmament is as certain as anything can be in this chaotic world. But that didn't change the French attitude.

It is said that Britain could have saved EDC. But she would not give military forces to it even though she approved the idea. It is also said that French communists and fellow-travelers killed EDC. But the fact remains that the French leaders, who are as passionately opposed to Communism as anyone, were against the plan. The death of EDC was certainly a victory for Communism, but, just as certainly, it was not achieved by the Communists.

What has happened is that U. S. leadership of the West is no longer anywhere near as potent as it was. In England and in Europe there is a very real fear that we have been too aggressive, and that other policies promise a better chance of avoiding a third world war of incalculable horror. U. S. News & World Report probably described the situation accurately when it said, "Friends and allies of the U. S. are going in for 'peaceful coexistence' with Communism whether the U. S. likes it or not." To many Americans, this course amounts to possible national suicide for the nations involved. But it is being advocated in high places not only in Europe, but in Japan and other Asian nations.

The situation is further complicated, from our point of view, by the fact that the sands are shifting under Adenauer's pro-American West German government. As Marquis Childs recently wrote, "What comes after Adenauer no one will predict, except to say that it is almost certain to be bad—the resurgence of the extreme Nationalist and former Nazi forces that already have begun to come back."

These are among the great problems with which Washington must now deal. A bright note is found in the confident determination with which the President, Mr. Dulles, and the other men involved are facing them.

The Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years

New Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP*

Since this announcement was first published just one year ago, more than 8,000,000 motorists have proved the astonishing benefits of TCP in their own cars. Today, the greatest gasoline development in 31 years has become the greatest gasoline success in history!

Boosts power as much as 15%!

Increases spark-plug life up to 150%!

Gives you extra gas mileage, too!

Here's the most revolutionary advance in motor fuels since the introduction of tetraethyl lead in 1922—new Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP, brought to you by special arrangement with Shell Oil Company. TCP is Shell's trademark for the remarkable additive first developed for aviation fuels.

Now you can actually enjoy the benefits of an engine tune-up—just by changing to new Conoco Super Gasoline. Chances are, by the time you've finished your second tankful, you'll feel the increase in power. And you'll keep that extra power just as long as you use Conoco Super.

For Conoco Super with TCP is a new kind of gasoline. It overcomes the greatest single cause of power loss affecting most of the cars on the road today. Now, you can enjoy all the power that was built into your car.

Why you need

Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP

In the average automobile, the by-products of fuel combustion constantly build up deposits on spark plugs and in combustion chambers. These deposits can "cheat" you of power in two ways. First, they actually short-circuit your spark plugs. This causes mis-firing. Second, deposits in the combustion chamber get red hot and cause the fuel to ignite before it should. This is called pre-ignition or "wild ping." The effect of fouled spark plugs and pre-ignition is a loss in power and a waste of gasoline.

How TCP works

TCP is a special chemical additive which is added to Conoco Super Gasoline. It was specifically developed to overcome the loss of power and fuel caused by combustion deposits. TCP neutralizes harmful deposits on spark plugs—your plugs spark as they should. It prevents deposits in the combustion chambers from causing pre-ignition—"wild ping" is controlled. Thus, every time you fill up with new Conoco Super, it's like getting your spark plugs cleaned and your engine tuned-up.

TCP helps your car, whether new or old

If you are driving a new car, with a high-compression engine, you need Conoco Super Gasoline to keep your car delivering all the power that was built into it. It will actually increase spark-plug life up to 150%. If you drive an older car, with tens of thousands of miles on the speedometer, Conoco Super can restore much of the "new car" performance and power you've been missing.

Yes, a great new era in motoring is here for you. Drive into your Conoco station today and fill your tank with new Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP. You'll feel the difference by the second tankful!
